

VALUE FINDERS

Sometimes values (light to dark) become hard to judge. Color complicates value determination. Is this color lighter than that color? How much darker than the drawing surface is this color value? Isolating the values in question helps to determine relationships.

To make a hole-punch value finder, punch holes into 2 white pieces of paper. Compare the values of objects to each other.